Ambassador Thomas Graham to Discuss Iran Nuclear Deal

Louisville, August 14, 2015 – The World Affairs Council of Kentucky and Southern Indiana has announced that they will host a presentation by Ambassador Thomas Graham on Thursday August 20th as part of their "World @ Home" monthly speaker series.

Ambassador Graham, one of the world's leading experts in nuclear non-proliferation, served as a diplomat in every major international arms control and non-proliferation negotiation that the U.S took part in from 1970-1997. An author of seven books on these topics, he is an affiliate professor at the University of Washington and is the current Executive Chairman of Lightbridge Corporation USA.

His talk will delve into the complexities of the Iran Nuclear Deal, offering insight into the future of global security and U.S.-Iran relations. Apart from his extensive experience in U.S. diplomacy, his talk is informed by his time spent as a member of the United Arab Emirates' International Advisory Board, guiding their nuclear energy program to the highest standards of security, transparency, and non-proliferation.

"Ambassador Graham's years of experience in nuclear non-proliferation negotiations and international politics make him an obvious expert on this topic" said Xiao Yin Zhao, Executive Director. "His insight and expertise will better inform our local community on the evolving implications of this deal."

The event, with support from Brown-Forman, will be held on August 20, 2015 at the University Club and Alumni Center (200 E. Brandeis Ave, Louisville, KY 40208) and will include:
